		11/07/2014 1125 Advocates employee reporting that one of the people being treated at thier residential treatment centers was brought to the location and then walked away. The employee tried to talk him into going back to the treatment center, but the party refused and left the area. Calling party advised that the party that walked away is a voluntary party in treatment, is over 21 years of age and has walked away in the past and returned. He is allowed to walk away and the company responsible for treatment has taken no action to remedy the situation, and will not keep him at the house against his will. Calling party advised to contact his mangement group and request thier assistance at this time.
