Outdoor Examination

Reported to: 59 Chestnut Street, Cambridge

Arrival Date/Time: 01/04/2023/ 4:15 p.m.

Observations and testing:

The block we examined consisted of Chestnut Street, Putnam Avenue, Sidney Street and Waverly Street. Chestnut Street and Putman Avenue ran parallel to one another. These roads were intersected by Sidney Street and Waverly Street, which ran parallel to one another. Grove Avenue intersected Putman Ave, near 625 Putnam Avenue, in the block between Sidney Street and Waverly Street.

Upon arrival, we were directed to the rear of #625 Putnam Avenue. The following observations were made of this location:

- A broken first floor window was noted
- Red-brown stain(s) "A" were noted on the frame of the broken window
- A bent screen was noted on the ground under the broken window

Next, we were directed to a side walkway between dwelling # 604/605 Putnam Avenue and dwelling # 254 Sidney Street and made the following observations:

- Red-brown stain(s) "B" were noted on the walkway
- Next to red-brown stain(s) "B" were apparent pieces of broken glass with red-brown stain(s) "C"
- Next to the apparent pieces of broken glass, red-brown stain(s) "D" were noted on the walkway
- The walkway continued behind #625 Putnam Avenue and ended at the corner of the building

- Additional red-brown stains were noted on the walkway behind #625 Putnam Avenue
- A white NASA sweatshirt with red-brown stains was noted on the ground in the rear courtyard behind #625 Putnam Avenue

Next, we were directed to a series of red-brown stains between the sidewalk in front of #625 Putnam Avenue and the back yard of # 59 Chestnut Street. The following observations were made:

- Red-brown stain “E” was noted on the sidewalk in front of Putnam Avenue
- Red-brown stain “F” was noted on the sidewalk on Grove Avenue
- Red-brown stain “G” was noted on the sidewalk on the corner of Chestnut Street and Waverly Street
- Red-brown stain “H” was noted on the sidewalk on the corner of Sidney Street and Chestnut Street
- Red-brown stain “I” was noted on the driveway of # 65 Chestnut Street
- Additional red-brown stains were observed on the walkway and side walks of all locations

The following observations were made regarding the back yard of # 59 Chestnut Street:

- Grey sweatpants with red-brown stain(s) were noted on the ground
- Medical debris was noted on the ground
- Red-brown stain(s) were noted on the ground near the medical debris

Next, we proceeded to apartment #107 at #625 Putnam Avenue. The front door opened to the kitchen which consisted of a table, cabinets with a countertop and appliances. A bedroom was noted off the southwest wall of the kitchen. The following observations were made regarding the bedroom:

- The room was in disarray
- A mattress was noted on the floor
- A desk was noted against the southwest wall
- A full bed and second desk were noted against the northeast wall
- Miscellaneous items including clothes and a bike were strewn about the room
- The window on the southeast wall was broken
- Red-brown stain “J” was noted near the window on the floor
- Additional red-brown stains were noted on other miscellaneous items
